In today's world, technology is developing by the second. Who would have thought that a small device that is the size of a palm could do almost everything? Smartphones have become so popular and have taken the place of PCs and other electronic entertainment devices.

They are small and portable, fast, versatile, and user-friendly. Nowadays, various mobile applications, or in short apps, serve many functions. Teaching Quran to kids is one example of such application. In this article, we will set out to discover and uncover the best Quranic app for kids.

Finding the right Quranic app to teach the Quran to your kids can, at times, be challenging. There are so many applications that choosing the best one can be overwhelming. When downloading and buying a Quranic app for teaching the Quran to kids, make sure that the app has a few samples to know whether it meets your requirements. Now let us review a few Quranic apps for kids.

This free app teaches kids to memorize Surah Fatiha and 20 surahs from juz 30 of the Quran. It works both offline and online. There are two modes. First, you can listen to the recitation of the surahs verse by verse without repetition, meaning the reciter alone recites each verse. Second, you can listen to the surahs with the repetition of kids. This is a simple app that only intends to teach kids to memorize a few surahs from the Quran. The visuals are simple but creative. A bee moves from one flower to the next for each recited verse, and there is a hive that fills with honey after each recited verse, until it gets full.

The app does not incorporate any fun activity in the learning process and simply plays the audio of the Quran. There is not much depth to this mobile application.

This free app that contains ads also teaches the memorization of the Quran to kids. Like the previous app, it teaches Surah Fatiha. Unlike the previous app, it teaches the memorization of the entire 30th juz of the Quran.

The reciter used is Sheikh Mahmud Khalil Husary from his Mushaf al-Mu'allim, where he recites the Quran simply and without any melody. A group of children repeats after each verse that he recites.

The app's design is not so catchy and only has icons of pictures, some of which have nothing written on them. As a result, you wouldn't know what some icons take you to. The main feature of this app, the recitation of the Quran and its repetition, works offline. Some other features, such as the daily adhkar (i. e. remembrance), only work online.

Rating: 3.
